CHANNEL FLYER IS A HERO IN LONDON

M. Bleriot Acclaimed and Feted, Dined and Wined and Given Purse.

HIS MONOPLANE ON EXHIBITION

France Wild With Enthusiasm Over Achievement of Aviator.

London, July 26.—Louis Bleriot, the Frenchman who made history by flying across the English channel from Les Baraques to Dover, a distance of twenty-one miles, in the remarkable time of little less than half an hour, and his famous little monoplane both reached London this morning, the former to receive the monetary fruits of his achievement in the shape of a check for $5,000 and the latter to be placed on exhibition to the financial advantage of both a London hospital and the enterprising proprietor of the only American department store here.

Hero Role is Trying.

The famous aviator is finding hero worship much more trying to endure than the strain of navigating the air. Remarkable scenes were again witnessed at Dover this morning when M. Bleriot returned there to attend a civil reception in his honor. The Frenchman was mobbed by the enormous crowds and the police had to come to his protection, so eager were the enthusiasts to greet him at close quarters. A similar ovation awaited the aviator at London, his compatriots having gathered at Victoria station in huge numbers. With the help of the police he finally succeeded in getting away and reaching his hotel, where he was presented with the check at a luncheon party.

Distinguished Company Present.

Paul Cambon, the French ambassador at London, was present at the luncheon and warmly congratulated his compatriot. The British army was largely represented and besides War Secretary Haldane there were Colonel Capper, head of the aeronautic work of the army; Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, and Lieutenant General Sir Arthur Paget, Lieut. E. H. Shackleton, who recently returned from an expedition to the Antarctic, and Sir Thomas Lipton, also were present.

When M. Bleriot arrived Mr. Haldane was the first to felicitate him. Speaking in French the secretary of war congratulated the aviator on his magnificent success, which he said would give him a place in history all by itself; to have crossed the English channel was an event marking a new era. "You did it with wonderful ease," added Mr. Haldane, "because you had great courage."

Doesn't Think It So Much.

M. Bleriot managed to get out a broken accented "think you," but made no further attempt to speak in English. Speaking his mother tongue, he attributed his success to an immense amount of preliminary work and said he was profoundly touched by the warmth of his welcome, which he thought was quite out of proportion with what he had accomplished.

"All I had to do," he said, "was to leave Calais on my left and make for Dover on my right."

M. Bleriot was handed the one thousand pounds in bank notes in a splendid silver cup.

It was announced at the luncheon that the aeronauts of Great Britain had decided to present M. Bleriot with a prize similar to the one conferred on Wilbur and Orville Wright, the American aeroplanists, in London last May.

"Bleriot fever" seems to have seized a large part of the populace of London. Those unable to see the flyer himself have been besieging the store where the compact little monoplane is installed in a department store among other requisites, the machine being so small it looks like a large toy rather than the practical flyer which enabled its daring manipulator to carry out his epochal feat.

THE ROOSEVELTS IN NAIROBA TO BE MUCH DINED

Having a Rest and Social Time Before Going Into Jungle Again.

Nairobi, British East Africa, July 26.—Colonel Roosevelt and his son, Kermit, have accepted a number of dinner engagements in their honor for the next ten days. On July 29 Mr. Roosevelt and Kermit will dine with the stewards of the East African Turf club. Kermit Roosevelt has secured several mounts in the race to be run here on Thursday and Saturday.

The Roosevelt party will leave Nairobi August 5 for Naivasha, a stop being made at Kijabe, forty miles northwest of this town, where Mr. Roosevelt will lay the foundation stone of a new building to be erected by the African Inland mission, an American organization.

Edmund Heller, the zoologist of the Roosevelt expedition, arrived here today with specimens secured by the expedition on the shore of Lake Naivasha. The collection will be packed here and forwarded to the Smithsonian institution.

WILL FIGHT FREE HIDES TO DEATH

Warren and His Bunch are Prepared to Wreck Bill if Necessary.

DUBIOUS OUTLOOK FOR TARIFF BILL

Aldrich-Payne Breach Said to Be Less Serious Than eRported.

Washington, July 26.—At a meeting of western republican senators, Senator Warren was authorized to say to the conferees that those present would oppose any conference report that provides for free hides. They assert that a canvass assures the defeat of such a report.

PREPARED FOR VIGOROUS FIGHT.

Washington, July 26.—In both senate and house the anti-free hide element today prepared for a most vigorous resistance to any report from the tariff committee taking the duty off hides. Northwestern senators and members of the house early were busily engaged in conferences among themselves.

Most active among the workers on the senate side were Senators Clark and Warren, of Wyoming; Carter, of Montana; Borah, of Idaho, and Smoot, of Utah.

In case the conferees bring in a free hide report the opposition will resort to the tactics of adopting a resolution of authorization to the conference committee to place all kinds of leather and all leather goods on the free list along with hides.

Expect to Get Democrats.

By this course they count on obtaining all but one of the democratic votes in the senate and all but four of the democratic votes in the house. The democrats are committed to lower duties and while they would not directly help the hide men by voting to put a higher duty on their product they would be willing to force all the duty off shoes.

The contestants were engaged during the forenoon in making a careful canvass of the senate. Their scouts were busy making the rounds of the committee rooms and interviewing all senators who for any reason have indicated opposition to the bill. They hope to pick up six or seven votes from the so-called progressive senators who voted against the bill as it passed the senate.

The free raw material men were not so active today, but they were none the less determined and there was no evidence that they had abandoned their fight. With the president and a large majority of the republican members of both houses of congress with them they declared success must come and told the "insurrectos" that they must either take free hides now or soon be asked to take free wool in addition.

In a Critical Situation.

Everybody appreciates that the tariff bill is in a critical state and not even its most enthusiastic supporters are as hopeful over the outlook as they were a week ago.

Greatly concerned by reports of friction between Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne on the Sunday night session of the tariff conference committee, many members of the senate and house today besieged the offices of the two leaders in efforts to learn if possible what the outcome is to be. At both it was stated that the ill-feeling engendered by the attempt last night to compel a vote on making hides dutiable at 7½ per cent had not widened the breach between the senate and house so much as had been indicated by published stories of the controversy.

Chance for Peace.

Before the resumption of the sessions of the conference committee at 2:30 p. m. today, Senator Aldrich told all of his callers that there was yet a chance to patch up all differences so that a report could be made to the house tomorrow. Many of the conferees indicated a purpose of insisting upon finishing their labors tonight. Senators who were seen coming from the room of the chairman of the finance committee today said that it was certain that Mr. Aldrich would not consent to the making of a report until he knew what the vote on the report would be in the senate. Unless the advocates of protected hides or of highly protected leather goods are willing to make material concessions, no report can be made tomorrow, according to the western senators. They do not take a hopeful view of the situation.

Radical Speeches Made.

Aroused by Representative Payne's insistence upon free hides the "insurrection" element in the house, which is fighting against the free raw material program, held a meeting today which brought out more radical speeches than have former meetings of the tariff "insurgents." A committee consisting of Representatives Gaines, of West Virginia; Mondell, of Wyoming, and Kennedy, of Ohio, called upon Mr. Payne and argued against the free raw material program.

While apparently assured that coal and iron ore would not be placed on the free list, the committee was given to understand that the chairman of the ways and means committee would insist upon free hides and the house rates on shoes and leather. There was practically no effort in the house today to canvass the situation as to the possibility of adopting a rule which would permit the conference committee to place a lower duty on shoes and leather than either the house or senate rates. The tariff "insurgents" would not say anything as to what attitude they will take when the conference report is brought into the house.

FACTORY WORKERS IN SUICIDE PACT

Disheartened by Dull Grind of Toil They Seek Surcease in Death.

GIRL'S DEATH HAS UNCOVERED CLUB

Cleveland Now Looking for Suicide of Companion of Girl Now Dead.

Cleveland, July 26.—A club composed of disheartened factory employes, advocating suicide as the only means within their reach of attaining peace of mind they crave and to escape the torments of their daily grind, is believed to exist here. This was advanced today by the parents of Miss Rebecca Bosechek, 18 years old, who was found dead in Gordon park yesterday. After considering all of the known circumstances concerning her death, this is the only theory evolved.

Another Death Expected.

In addition to this the relatives believe another girl, a companion of Miss Bosechek will end her life within the next few days. The mother of the second girl said she heard her daughter and Miss Bosechek planning to kill themselves.

According to those who know of the habits of Miss Bosechek the club consisted of six girls, four young men and a man and his wife. Most of them are employed in cloak factories.

Girls Call at House.

Yesterday, after the death of Miss Bosechek became known, several young men and women called at the Bosechek home to obtain books and newspaper clippings whic hthe girl had in her room and which she would not let her parents see. The girl is known to have met with these young people at various places. They are known to have read morbid literature and discussed death as the only relief for their woes.

Miss Bosechek shot herself. Her body was found in a clump of bushes bushes. It is believed that she was the first chosen by lot in the club to end her life.

VERY UNBROTHERLY CONDUCT OF THE BROTHERS

Factions of a Colored Fraternity Come to Blows in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., July 26.—Bitterness between two factions resulted in a riot when the Brothers of Friendship, a colored organization, attempted to begin its annual convention here today. Both factions tried to obtain possession of the old state capitol, where the meetings were scheduled to take place, and there was a hand-to-hand conflict on the steps. A riot call was sent in and police reserves in an ambulance were hastened to the scene.

The police soon restored peace, after which Walter M. Farmer, of Illinois, claimant of the title of grand master of the organization, was ejected.

The Sisters of the Mysterious Ten are also in session.

WILL SETTLE LABOR DISPUTE.

Winnipeg, Man., July 26.—The conciliation board appointed under the Lemieux act today unanimously decided to settle the dispute between the Grand Trunk-Pacific railway and its engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen. The agreement gives these railway men the same schedule as that in force on the Canadian Pacific. Four hundred men are involved.

OFFICIAL FLIGHT TO BE MADE AT FORT MYER TODAY

Wright Boys Will Undertake to Stay Up an Hour With Two Aboard.

Washington, July 26.—Formal announcement was made today by Chief Signal Officer Allen of the army that the official test of the Wright aeroplane would begin this evening on the Fort Myer drill grounds.

Today's trial is to be an endurance flight of one hour and with one passenger aboard in addition to theaviator. Lieutenant Lahm will accompany Orville Wright in the flight. An official board consisting of Major George O. Squier, Major C. McK. Saltzman, Captain C. DeF. Chandler, Lieutenant Lahm, Lieutenant Benjamin D. Foulois, Lieutenant Humphrey and Lieutenant Commander Sweet of the navy will witness the flight.

President Taft was expected to attend the official trial of the Wright aeroplane at Fort Myer this evening. He was scheduled first to play his customary afternoon game of golf and then go direct from the Chevy Chase links to the Fort Myer parade grounds, arriving there about 6 or 6:30 o'clock.

DECORATIONS FOR WRIGHTS.

Paris, July 26.—Orville and Wilbur Wright, the American aeroplanists, of Dayton, Ohio, and Henry Farman, the English aeronaut, were today decorated with the Legion of Honor for their achievements in aviation. Hart Berg, the European business manager of the Wright brothers, and Alberto Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, were promoted to be officers of the Legion of Honor.

SUTTON CASE WILL GO FORWAAD IN ANNAPOLIS

No Halt Will Be Made to Await the Attendance of Witnesses.

Annapolis, July 26.—At the opening of the Sutton inquiry today Mr. Davis, Mrs. Sutton's counsel, suggested to Commander Hood, presiding member of the board, that as the witnesses on hand would not carry the proceedings beyond the week, an adjournment might be taken at the close of today's session until next week, Monday. Surgeon F. C. Cook and Lieutenant Harold H. Utley, of the marine corps, the two witnesses now abroad, are expected to arrive here. The court, however, decided to continue the sessions from day to day until all the witnesses who might appear were examined. Lieutenant Edward A. Osterman, United States marine corps, was recalled and questioned by Mr. Davis in regard to the revolver which was passed to Sergeant De Hart on the night of the fight when Sutton was killed, according to De Hart who swore, however, that he did not know who gave him the weapon.

Osterman said he did not see a revolver given to De Hart and did not know who gave it to the sergeant. "But I have a recollection that some one did hand him one of the revolvers," added the witness.

AWARDED A CONTRACT.

Mosler Company to Install New Safes for First National.

The First National bank on Saturday awarded to the Mosler Safe and Lock company the contract for the safe and vault work, including the safety deposit boxes, in the new banking quarters in the Shoaff building. There were five bidders, and the price was somewhat in excess of $20,000.

THAW READY FOR ORDEAL OF TRIAL

Will Go on Stand to Convince Court of His Sanity.

ALIENISTS GIVE THEIR TESTIMONY

District Attorney Jerome in Charge of Case at White Plains.

White Plains, N. Y., July 26.—The severest ordeal of Harry Thaw's struggle for freedom from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane was before him today when Justice Isaac Miller resumed the hearing in the supreme court here, at which Thaw is trying to show himself sane.

Charles Morschauser, his attorney, reaffirmed his intention of putting Thaw on the stand to give personal proof of his sound mental condition. Mr. Morschauser had three lay witnesses left when the hearing adjourned on July 15 to enable both sides to study the records of Thaw's two trials for killing Stanford White.

Jerome Was On Hand to Help.

District Attorney Jerome, of New York, who last week announced his intention of helping the state and the Westchester county authorities, came over from his summer home at Lakeville, Conn., today.

Mr. Morschauser said that while he would like to put his alienists on the stand before he called his client, the order of their testimony might depend upon their professional engagements. He has subpoenas for Dr. William J. Meyer, the White Plains jail physician; Dr. Britton D. Evans, of Morris Plains, the coiner of the term "brain storm," and Dr. H. Ernst Schmid, of White Plains.

Every seat in the court room was taken and every aisle crowded an hour before the trial opened.

Objected to Jerome.

SHERWIN HAD QUEER IDEAS ABOUT A CHECK

Said He Thought He Could Draw One on Any Banking House.

Charles E. Sherwin, a young fellow pretty well known in certain places about town and who has been in the hands of the police several times, was locked up at police headquarters today by a Potrolman Dickson on a warrant charging him with obtaining $5 from Manager Will Wiebke, of the Hof Brau, on a worthless check.

In company with another man and a girl Sherwin went into the Hof Brau about 10 o'clock at night on July 20 and went up to the dining rooms on the second floor. He came down and told Mr. Wiebke he wanted to buy some supper and asked for a blank check on the First National bank. This he filled out and signed "Chas. E. and Burwell" and obtained the money. He passed out of the building by another door and didn't stop to spend a cent in the house.

The check went to the bank in the course of business and was returned and the affidavit was filed. Sherwin said he and Burwell are engaged n the cigar business at Churubusco and that he thought because he had money deposited there he could draw on any bank for it. He paid Wiebke the $5 when he came to town today and had $70 on his person when he was arrested. He would in all probability have been let go but for the fact that his police record is a bad one.

ASSISTANT BANK CASHIER IS GONE

Noah Marker Mssing After Taking $50,000 from Tipton Bank.

INSTITUTION HAS $1,000,000 CAPITAL

Man Who Slipped Had No Bad Habits But His Investments Were Bad.

Tipton, Ind., July 26.—Noah R. Marker, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Tipton, has disappeared and an investigation shows that more than $50,000 besides the amount of money on hand at the close of business Saturday night is missing. The bank has been closed temporarily.

It has a capital of $1,000,000. Marker left a note for his brother, saying he was going away. He has a wife and two children. When the safe was opened this morning the vault was empty. The examiner visited the bank last Friday and it was then apparent that some person had embezzled a large sum of money.

Decided to Close Doors.

The directors of the bank met at 10 o'clock this morning and decided to close its doors until the books have been carefully examined.

The First National is one of the strongest banks in the state, with a capital of $1,000,000. The depositors are amply secured against loss. The officers of the bank are: President, E. W. Shirk; vice president, N. R. Shirk; cashier, William H. Marker; assistant cashier, Noah R. Marker. Marker had no bad habits as far as anyone here knows. He did not drink nor gamble. He was prominent in social and lodge circles.

The directors of the bank today issued a statement that they were informed Noah Marker had made bad investments and they believed the bank's money had gone through this channel.

CLERK IS SHORT $14,000.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 26.—Howard Phillips, the young bank clerk, is now known to have taken $14,000 instead of $5,000 and he has told in detail how he did it through three years without being caught, to the chagrin of the bank examiner and to the pain of the bank officials, who had faith in him. Like the other employes, he was not under bond, the policy being to have employes who could be trusted rather than to prepare to recoup losses. Young Phillips says the beginning was with a dice box at cigar counters. His bond was fixed at $5,000, which he has not given as yet.

BUTLER STRIKERS ACCEPT TERMS OF COMPANY

Two Thousand Men Return to Work—More Trouble At McKee's Rocks.

Pittsburg, July 26.—The strike at the Standard Steel Car company's plant at Butler was ended today. More than two thousand former employes returned to work at the company's terms. Seven of the leaders of the strike movement were discharged.

Officials of the company say that hereafter American workmen will be given preference in all departments, particularly in the construction of cars.

Deputy sheriffs on guard along the Ohio river bank near the Pressed Steel Car company's water plant at McKees Rocks fired on an attacking party at 3 o'clock this morning in answer to stones and other missles hurled by several men in a row boat. One man was reported to have been shot but no trace of him could be found. The object of the attack at the water plant is unknown.

Rumors of the importation of new men as employes at the plant today caused the strikers to establish picket lines at day break and for three hours all street cars were halted while a committee questioned each passenger. The state constabulary was called out but had little trouble in dispersing the crowd. There were no additional men at work today.

DANIEL SHORDON VERY ILL.

Was Stricken by Paralysis Following Surgical Operation.

Daniel Shordon, the veteran agricultural implement dealer, is in an extremely critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital, and it is feared his death is not far distant. A few days ago Mr. Shordon submitted to a surgical operation for the relief of a malady from which he had long been suffering, and this morning the patient suffered an attack of paralysis. Mr. Shordon's advanced age is another feature which makes his case additionally grave.

AGED RECTOR IS DEAD.

Nahant, Mass., July 26.—Rev. Wm. R. Huntington, rector of Grace Episcopal church, New York city, died today after a lingering illness caused by intestinal trouble. He was 71 years old.

WILL PASS UPON CITY CANDIDATES

League Will Investigate Candidates and Make eRcommendations.

GET INTO ACTION WITHIN TEN DAYS

Organization Will Investigate Candidates and Make Recommendations

Candidates for city offices nominated by both democrats and republicans in Fort Wayne, must now run the gauntlet of close scrutiny by the Municipal league, which proposes to take an active part in the city campaign.

Announcement is made today that within ten days a meeting of the Municipal league will be called to name committees and begin the work of investigating the record of the nominees, both personally and with reference to their position upon municipal issues. The platforms to be adopted by both parties will also be taken up, and when the scrutinizing process is complete the Municipal league will issue an address setting forth its recommendations to the independent voters, whose first concern is not political party, but good government.

Still is a Live Wire.

Officials of the Municipal league today smiled at the inference that the organization, which cut something of a figure in the municipal campaign in Fort Wayne four years ago, is now a dead proposition. On the contrary, they assert, it is still the livest of live wires, and it proposes to get vigorously into action in the coming municipal struggle. An attempt will be made to get specific, clear-cut declarations from each of the candidates, and as some of the leaders in the Municipal league are old hands at the political game, they probably cannot be fooled by any glittering generalities.

Dr. A. P. Buchman is president of the Municipal league, with Will A. Rundell as secretary, and the organization has not been active since the campaign four years ago, when it gave its endorsement to the candidacy of W. J. Hosey for mayor. Dr. Buchman will probably decline re-election to the presidency when the meeting for reorganization is called shortly, for he explains that he is contemplating a western trip which will keep him out of the city during the larger portion of the time in which the city campaign is apt to be liveliest. The Municipal league lays claim to six hundred members, about equally divided as to political affiliations.

Making No Forecasts.

Officials of the league are at this time giving out no hint of the probable action of the league as to recommendation between Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Grice for the mayoralty. They say that until the situation has been canvassed and duly deliberated upon, it would be impossible to forecast the action of the organization.

While the league heretofore has strongly befriended the municipal ownership principle, it is contended that it is not merely a one-idea organization, but that it stands for clean government, the supremacy of the law and civic betterment along all lines.

C. M. Gandy, democratic city chairman, said today that the adoption of a platform would be taken up at the first meeting of the democratic committee, and that while he was of course unable to forecast its planks, he expressed confidence that advanced and decisive grounds would be taken upon all municipal questions now before the people of Fort Wayne.

AUTO FACTORY MAY BE LOCATED IN FORT WAYNE

Out of Town Interests Here in Conference With Business Men.

Out-of-town interests came to Fort Wayne today for a conference with local business men regarding the location of an automobile factory in this city, and the preliminary details of the matter are under consideration.

The proposition was taken up by Messrs. F. A. Randall and C. F. Graeter, and it is understood that it will be submitted by them to a number of other business men, but until the movement has reached a more definite stage further information is withheld.

Fort Wayne has always been regarded as an inviting field for an automobile factory, and in all probability the right sort of a proposition will get prompt encouragement from local capitalists.

Touring Party Starts From Denver on Pleasure Trip.

Denver, Col., July 26.—Nearly every member of the Glidden tour party today took a train for Georgetown over the famous Georgetown loop and thence over a little narrow gauge railroad to the top of Mt. McClellan or Gray's peak, the highest point in the world reached by a railroad, nearly 14,500 feet above the sea level. The tourists were amidst snow from three to eight feet deep and seemed to enjoy the novelty.

Tonight the tourists will be the guests at a banquet given in their honor by the Denver Motor club.

Then early tomorrow the homeward journey will begin, down the steeps into Kansas to Kansas City, where the trip will end.

WILL MAKE A FIGHT TO PLEASE THE PRESIDENT

Virginia Republicans to Answer Call for Work in the South.

Newport News, Va., July 26.—Encouraged by President Taft's desire for an active opposition in the south, Virginia republican leaders are determined to begin at the state convention, which will be held here July 28 and 29, the work of building up an organization in the hope of a republican victory in Virginia at the next national election.

Aside from being the first republican state convention to be held during the Taft administration, this gathering will probably claim national attention through the presence of one of the Taft cabinet officers, Secretary Nagel, of the department of commerce and labor, who will address the delegates Wednesday night.

By putting up the strongest state ticket the republicans can muster and with a platform endorsing the party declaration of the last national convention, the Taft administration and the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill and containing planks on all live state issues, the party will prepare for an active fight during the campaign. Next year when the congressional elections will be held, candidates will be put up in each of the ten districts and strong efforts will be made to increase the party representation in congress, now centered entirely in Representative Bascom Slemp, who is the recognized republican state leader.

As the situation stands, A. P. Gillespie, of Tazewell, lawyer and cattle raiser, will be nominated for governor by acclamation. Candidates for all the state offices will be put in the field. The liquor question is the liveliest state issue in Virginia at this time. The anti-saloon league has been making a strong fight for state wide prohibition. Both of the two candidates contesting for the democratic nomination for governor favor local option, with the understanding, however, that they would sign a prohibition bill if passed by the legislature. Mr. Slemp says that the republican convention probably will advocate local option and the adoption of the county unit system in local option counties.

Many Honors Await Him.

Numerous honors and medals are awaiting M. Bleriot on this side of the channel, the principal prize being a gold cup offered by Captain Wyndham for the first flight across the English channel. The cup will be presented to the French aviator at the Aeroplane club dinner August 9.

Aeronautical experts here regard M. Bleriot's feat as the vindication for the monoplane type of machine over the bi-plane. The Frenchman's machine carries a greater weight in proportion to its plane surface than any other type, which fact is considered a great advantage. Experts declare that the greater surface the bi-plane offers to the wind would have tended to make one turn turtle on encountering the aerial whirlpool which troubled Bleriot so greatly.

ALL FRANCE ENTHUSIASTIC.

M. Bleriot's Feat Kindles the Nation With Wild Joy.

Paris, July 26.—The whole of France is wild with enthusiasm over Louis Bleriot's feat in crossing the English channel yesterday. All the newspapers are filled with dithyrambics which reflect the national pride at the splendid era-breaking achievement of French prowess, while the pioneers of aviation, like Ernest Archdeacon, Georges Bolsin, Rene Quinton, Count Henri De La Vaulx and Henri Rarman foresee the time in the near future when heavier than air machines carrying passengers will negotiate the mediteranean from France to Algeria and the possibilities of the aeroplane as an engine of war are discussed anew.

While there is much sympathy for poor Hubert Latham, who overslept himself yesterday morning, the country rejoices at the fact that the intrepid Bleriot was the first to cross from France to England.

The weather has again turned bad today at Calais and M. Latham is reported as alternately weeping and cursing his ill luck, he being greatly touched by M. Bleriot's offer to divide the prize if he succeeds in crossing the channel.

HAVE MADE TOUR OF CEYLON.

Fort Wayne friends of Hon. N. W. Gilbert, now a member of the Philippine commission, have just learned that Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert are making a tour of Ceylon and other English and Dutch possessions in the orient. Mr. Gilbert is enjoying a vacation, and at the same time making a study of the progress of the English and the Dutch governments in dealing with the Malay problem.

SPAIN WILL FURNISH ALL THE TROOPS NECESSARY

General Mariano to Have a Free Hand With the Kabyle Tribesmen.

Madrid, July 26.—Fighting between the Spanish forces under General Marina and Moorish tribesmen was resumed outside of Melilla at 9 o'clock last night. General Linares, minister of war, announced in an interview today that the mobilization of Spanish troops would soon reach 24,000, bringing General Marina's effective force up to 40,000 men, but on account of the extent of territory on the Riff coast to be covered the minister considered it doubtful whether that number would suffice.

Consequently the formation of new brigades will continue. General Orogo's division and the Gibraltar brigade leave here today for the Riff coast.

General Linares declares that General Marina enjoys the full confidence of the government and will remain in command and be given every man asked for.

The Madrid newspapers have been notified that hereafter they will not be allowed to print special dispatches from the seat of war until their accuracy has been confirmed by the general staff. Foreign correspondents are forbidden to telegraph any except official news.

The government denies that it intends to suspend the constitutional guarantees in Catalonia and other provinces.

Conde De Allende Salazar, minister of foreign affairs, in a note to the press today announced that the war in Morocco is limited to the protection of Spanish possessions and frontiers covered by the treaty of Tetuan and is in no sense directed against Morocco.

CENSORSHIP IS RIGID.

It was expected that advocates of protected hides would devote a large part of the day to beseeching the president to stand firmly for material reductions on boots and shoes and other leather goods, if hides are to be duty free.

The conference committee reassembles this afternoon to make a further effort to reach an agreement. The two sessions held yesterday were barren of results, save the clash which is reported to have occurred between Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne following the night session.

Speculating on Debate.

Although it is not known when the conference report will be ready for the house there is much speculation as to the time which may be consumed in discussing the report. It is not probable that the report will be taken up in the house on the day it is presented, as all of the members will be entitled to see the report in print before acting. One day will be lost, therefore, in getting the report in shape for discussion.

Until there has been some opportunity to study the temper of the house it is unlikely that a rule will be brought in for the regulation of debate. Representative Payne will present at length the house view of the result of the conference. Representative Clark will make a reply in behalf of the minority. These statements may be made on the day on which the report is presented.

Will Limit Debate.

What time may be consumed on either side after the two leaders have been heard will depend upon the committee on rules. It is understood that after the speeches of the leaders an order limiting debate and fixing the time for a vote will be presented. The general impression is that not more than two days' time will be consumed by the house in the discussion of the report. Some predict that it will be concluded within one sitting.

Broader latitude will prevail in the senate. Predictions as to the time that will be taken there vary from two days to a week. If the opponents of free hides find encouragement they may discuss the bill for several days. It is believed, however, that their plan will be to express themselves forcibly and briefly and allow the report to go to a vote. Some of the "insurgent" senators will doubtless consume more time. It is understood that Senator La Follette will present his views at some length. Speeches are expected from all the senators who voted against the bill in the senate. Unquestionably many of the democrats will have a "final word" and Mr. Aldrich will make a statement regarding the proceedings of the conference with reference to the bil.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, July 26.—After adopting a concurrent resolution empowering the president to transmit to the governors of the various states copies of the resolution heretofore adopted by congress authorizing an amendment to the constitution relative to the levying of an income tax, the senate today at 12:45 o'clock, adjourned until next Thursday.

of the state, called Justice Mills's attention to Mr. Jerome's presence, saying that he had consented to appear with the state's attorneys at their request.

Thaw's attorney immediately objected to Jerome's participation recalling the New York district attorney's affidavit before Judge Gaynor when an effort was made to hold the prese tnhearing in New York instead of White Plains, to the effect that he could not act with the authorities of Westchester county. Justice Mills settled the matter by remarking that Jerome had never said he would not appear at the request of the state and Mr. Jerome remained.

Jerome Takes Charge.

District Attorney Jerome took charge of the case for the state. Dr. Schmidt's conclusion, after numerous examinations of Thaw in White Plains, was that his condition mental and physical was normal excepting his heart, which beat a trifle too fast. The witness read a condensed history of Thaws life compiled from interviews with the prisoner. In this, various events which might have a bearing upon his mental condition, were explained by Thaw. In discussing the killing of White, Thaw told the witness that it sometimes surprised himself that he felt no remorse.

"I found Mr. Thaw," concluded Dr. Schmidt "logical, memory excellent, attention to an argument good and control of his emotions normal."

Paranoa, the kind of insanity with which the authorities allege Thaw is afflicted, was discussed by the witness who said there were varieties of this disease from which the patient might recover.

Jerome Grows Scientific.

On cross examination District Attorney Jerome plunged at once into the scientific aspects of paranoa. As Mr. Jerome questioned Dr. Schmidt, Thaw sitting so close that at times their elbows almost touched, studied the district attorney calmly and with an expression of great interest.

Mr. Jerome questioned Dr. Schmidt for more than an hour, paying particular attention to Thaw's idea regarding Stanford White's private life. The witness said Thaw has discussed this subject with him, but he did not consider its bearing important upon the question of Thaw's present mental condition. When Dr. Schmidt finished a recess was taken until 1:30.

"You say now that this man is fit, in your opinion, to be turned loose in this community without any restraint whatever?"

"I do," replied Dr. Schmidt.

NELSON CRAIG ASKS A CHANGE FROM COUNTY

Milk Case Will Be Taken from Local Judge—The Courts.

Nelson Craig, whose license to retail milk in the city limits was revoked by Mayor W. J. Hosey and who continued to sell milk and was arrested for the offense and released on habeas corpus proceedings, has applied to the superior court for a change of venue in his injunction suit brought for the purpose of preventing the city from interfering with his business.

The case was to have been heard on its merits last week but was continued at the instance of the attorneys until such a time as they could find it convenient to present it to the court. Craig's license was revoked because he refused to submit his dairy stock to a tuberculin test.

Would Not Speak to Her.

Grace E. Drowne in a divorce filed in the superior court through Ballou and Hoffman alleges that within a short time after their marriage Earl Drowne, her husband, became indifferent and refused to speak to her and was forced to leave him. She wants her maiden name of Benoy restored and asks $1,000 alimony. They were separated a year after their marriage.

Cass Case is Resumed.

The case of William Cass against Judge S. R. Alden, which was continued Thursday on account of the primaries, was resumed again today in the superior court before Judge S. E. Cook.

FAMILY IN AUTO SMASH.

Machine Ran Away on Hill and Several Were Hurt.

Seymour, Ind., July 26.—Theodore Groub, wholesale grocer of this city, and his wife, their two sons, John and Tom, and Mrs. John Groub, were all hurt in an automobile accident Sunday. The brakes failed to work on the Fort Ritner hill, 25 miles west of this city and the automobile ran away. All were caught under the machine.

Mrs. Theodore Groub was seriously hurt and may not recover. Her right shoulder was crushed and a broken bone was pressed into her lung. One knee was also fractured. Mr. Groub received a deep cut under the left eye and his left leg was hurt. Mrs. John Groub's shoulder blade was broken and she was cut on the forehead. John Groub's back was injured and Tom Groub suffered a broken rib and received a bad wound on the head. They were taken to Fort Ritner by farmers and brought home on a Baltimore and Ohio train. Dr. Graessle was called from this city to Fort Ritner and accompanied them home.

PROTECTS HIS ASSAILANTS.

Man Robbed and Thown Under Train Dies Keeping His Secret.

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—Protecting his assailants from exposure, John Stein, sailor on the City of Mackinac, is dead today in a hospital at Ford village, ten miles down the river, from wounds received when he was thrown under a Michigan Central train the night before by two men, according to a statement he made just before his death. Stein was found with both legs cut off. At the hospital he said he was coming to Detroit from Toledo and while talking with two men on the platform was suddenly attacked by them, robbed of ten dollars and thrown under the wheels.

Stein said that he knew the men, but refused to tell who they are. Railway officials say that the train was solidly vestibuled and that a man could not have been thrown off in the manner described by Stein unless it had been from the blind end of the baggage car.

LOADING THE HALF MOON ON THE HOLLAND-AMERICA STEAMSHIP SOESTDYK AT ROTTERDAM

New York, July 26.—A counterpart of Hendrik Hudson's historic ship, the Half Moon, arrived here and is to take part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration commemorating the discovery of the Hudson river three hundred years ago. The vessel was built in Amsterdam, Holland, by public subscription, and was sent here as Holland's popular contribution to the celebration.

Perched upon the deck of the big ship, the Half Moon was a remarkable sight, even apart from the peculiar interest attachtd to her, she was the cynosure of all eyes down the bay as the Soestdyk came into port.

The Half Moon is seventy-four and one-half feet long over all and has a breadth of barely seventeen feet. The great crane in the Brooklyn navy yard is to lift her up and put her down in the water and then she is to be fitted out exactly as was the original when Hudson commanded her.

BRUTAL HUSBAND IS GIVEN A STIFF SENTENCE

Walter Kelsey Draws Six Months and a Fine—City Court.

Because Walter Kelsey struck his wife on the head with a fish bowl while she was trying to get him to buy provisions for his family with his weekly wages instead of spending it all for drink Judge Skelton gave him six months in jail in the city court this morning and tacked on a fine of $25 and costs which will keep him in the bastile a month or so longer unless he can raise $35.00.

Mrs. Kelsey went to the Horstman livery barn on Saturday night to get her husband to go with her and buy some groceries. He was under the influence of liquor at the time and instead of accompanying her he slipped out the backway and went to John Helmcamp's saloon where, according to the wife's testimony, he bought more drink although she had asked once before that no intoxicants be sold him.

He came out of the saloon drunker than he went in and his wife finally got him home. He wanted to get away and buy more drinks and she stood in the doorway. First he grabbed her by the wrist and hurt her and then while she was endeavoring to persuade him to remain at home he hit her with the fish globe.

A gash two and a half inches in length was cut to the bone and an artery severed. The wife evidently feared Kelsey and did not want to file an affidavit against him but her children by a former husband insisted on it and she finally consented. They have been married about a year and have a baby.

Mourning House Raided.

Complaints from neighbors who say that disorderly negroes and white people gather in the home of John Mourning, a negro, residing on Bates avenue, caused Sergt. Pappert and Patrolman Adkins to raid the place early this morning and Blanche Mourning, a daughter, was arrested in company with a white man who gave the name of George Sheets. Both were fined but they were not present and a ten-day sentences tacked on to Sheets' fine was suspended. The Mournings formerly lived oen Hanna street and have been in trouble and the police are investigating. A young white girl living in the neighborhood reported a few days ago that a negro hid in the bushes as she approached him a short time ago and fearing an attack she was forced to make a detour to reach her home. A red-headed woman giving the name of Grace Walton and her home as Columbus, O., was arrested at the same time. She showed no signs of colored blood but said her father was a negro and her mother a white woman and that her paternal grandfather was also white. She was given a chance to get out of town.

The Other Cases.

Frank "Whitey" Lauer drew $25 and costs for drunkenness. He just got out of jail Saturday.

Harris Kennedy, a hobo who was found drunk on the banks of the Maumee river and who said he was waiting for a "lady friend" to go fishing with him, got $1 and costs.

JOHNSON ARRIVES IN FORT WAYNE AS SCHEDULED

F. H. Johnson, the young man who has created a sensation throughout the west with his theories and who has built up an immense following in the east during the past few months, will open his headquarters in Fort Wayne tomorrow. In speaking of his proposed visit, Johnson had this to say:

"I shall stay in Fort Wayne about thirty days; my headquarters will be at Bradley Bros.'s drug store, 267 Calhoun street. Beginning Tuesday, July 27, I shall be at this store from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day, and myself or assistants will talk with all who wish to see me there. I shall give the public ample opportunity to ascertain whether my theories about various physical ailments and the efficacy of the Ka-Vita preparations may be relied on."

When asked about the public removals of deafness, he is said to have made in other cities, Johnson said:

"Many of these reports are doubtless exaggerated. I have given demonstrations in public to show what one of the Ka-Vita remedies will do for certain kinds of deafness, and it has made people so troubled hear in a few moments' time. This does not mean, however, that the preparation will remove all kinds of deafness in a few moments. Some of these demonstrations may be given in Fort Wayne and it will then be time to discuss them. The preparation which is used in these demonstrations is not the one which accomplishes most for ailing people, and to which I owe the greatest part of my success. The preparation I come here especially to introduce is primarily for all forms of stomach trouble. Any claims I might make for this medicine would now sound exaggerated. I will say, however, that before I leave Fort Wayne I will prove to the entire satisfaction of a great many people that stomach trouble is a curse to the present generation and that the Ka-Vita remedies will remove it."

Singular and Plural.

"Whenever she gets to thinking how much they're in debt it affects her nerves."

"Huh! The way it affects her husband is singular."

"How singular?"

"Just singular. It affects his 'nerve.' He tried to borrow a hundred from me today."—Catholic Standard and Times.

AT THE FAIRY THEATRE.

Special For Today and Tomorrow—"The Escape From Andersonville" A True Story of the Civil War.

Andersonville, how familiar the name! How often in the years that followed the great Civil War have we gathered around some old battle-scarred veteran and listened while he painted for us, with homely eloquence, word pictures of the horrors of prison life there, and told us of some daring escape. Just such a thrilling story of the escape of six prisoners, as told by one of them, is spread before you in the splendid Kalem Film at the Fairy. All six were natives of the same little Massachusetts village. Enlisting in different regiments they became widely separated only to meet again as fellow prisoners in the pen at Andersonville.

Federal Prisoners in the Stockade.

The first scene opens with a view of a corner of the stockade that surrounded the land comprising the prison. Here, stretched out under the sweltering sun of a July day, are the little bands of federal prisoners with whom our story deals. Dressed in rags, haggard and worn, many months of privation have weakened them so they are barely able to raise themselves from the ground.

The Tunnel.

Now darkness has thrown its pall over the prison. Six long weary weeks have passed. The little band, urged on by the new comers, who are strong and eager, have with infinite caution and patience been digging their way to freedom. Under the few old rags that compose their beds the mouth of the tunnel is hidden from the guards.

The Stolen Locomotive.

The fugitives have reached the Georgia Central railroad. Out on a siding stands an engine. The engineer and fireman have steam up and into the cab jumps one of the prisoners. Up climb the others and still holding the engineer and fireman they are ordered to throw up their hands.

The Confederate Engine Breaks Down

Around a curve in the track come the Confederates on their engine. Gradually they have cut down the distance between the two engines until the fugitives are almost in their grasp. But something is the matter. The engine is loosing speed. Now it stops. The engineer rushes forward. A cloud of steam envelopes him. Excitedly he explains to the Confederates that their engine is hopelessly broken down. In frantic rage the Confederates watch their prey slip through their hands. Don't fail to see it at the Fairy tonight and tomorrow.

SQUARE DEALING WILL PAY.

We believe there is in Fort Wayne a right-thinking, independent element of voters that is numerically strong enough to control the issue of the municipal election next fall. We believe this element will control the election. That candidate who promises not the most, but the best, will gather to himself the support of this element.

Any candidate who assumes that a majority of the voters of this city are ready to go the polls and place the seal of their approval on lawlessness is blundering into a fatal error. Therefore, that candidate who most clearly commits himself by promise to a policy of law enforcement and police reform and surrounds such pledge with most evidences of sincerity will command the support of the class of people who have grown tired of conditions that almost without intermission have endured during the past thirteen years.

Square dealing will pay that candidate who makes such principle the basis of his appeal to the people. He is a self-deluded candidate who convinces himself that all of the people can be fooled all the time. There is an abundance of time between now and November for voters to inform themselves of the merits of the candidates and to weigh the value of the pledges of each.

What appeared to be a rather insignificant affair with the Kabyle tribesmen in Morocco has involved Spain in a conflict that in point of hard fighting and the number of men engaged eclipses the war with the United States over the liberation of Cuba. Already fierce engagements costly in officers and men have been fought in and around Melilla and the war appears to be but getting a good start. Spain now has some 20,000 men at the theater of war and as many more will be concentrated there within a few days. Fighting the African tribesmen is always a serious business and is now the more so because they have learned the value of modern arms and much of the strategy of civilized warfare. They are intrepid and fanatical and death in battle under the flag of the crescent is the sweetest glory they can know. Spain will triumph, but only at great cost.

"My lady doth protest too much." Likewise Sereno Elisha Payne, chairman of the house committee on ways and means and of its committee in the joint conference. From the most ardent and immovable of stand patters Mr. Payne was converted with intense suddenness to a real revisionist. He is blocking an agreement by a terrible insistence on free hides, which is all very well in its way and much to be commended, but just at this time rather menacing to an expeditious completion of the tariff bill. It may soon be suspected that instead of having surrendered the whole of his devotion to such use as President Taft can make of it, Mr. Payne is making use of a pretense. At the same time, let not the New York member be made a victime of snap judgment. He may come through all right.

That was a bold endeavor by M. Bleriot to cross the English channel in his toy aeroplane, but it was a brutal blow to Herbert Latham, who had almost succeeded in crossing and was ready to try it again. Still, the race is to the swift as well as the strong, and M. Bleriot turned out before dawn, while his rival was slumbering away his impatience for propitious winds and weather, and simply went across. Mr. Latham has left to him only the opportunity to prove that it can be done again and that his aeroplane is as good as M. Bleriot's.

But five more days until the first day of August comes and the tariff bill is still in hand. Three months ago Speaker Cannon ventured the prophecy that congress would do mighty well to get the measure cleared away by that time. It now seems hardly possible that the bill can be shaped in conference, debated in house and senate and the conference report accepted within the five remaining days of July.

The number of railway wrecks, steam and trolley, in this state would seem to present to the Indiana railway commission urgent reason for a thorough investigation. Several each week for several weeks have some value as evidence that regulations are merely nominal.

THRILLING TALE OF FLIGHT OVER THE CHANNEL

M. Bleriot Modestly Tells of Experience in Historic Achievement.

Dover, July 26.—This sleepy seaport town experienced the keenest thrill known in a generation, when, at sunrise yesterday morning, a white-winged bird-like machine, with loudly humming motor, swept out from the haze obscuring the sea toward the distant French coast, and circling twice above the high chalky cliffs of Dover, alighted on English soil.

A calm Frenchman, Louis Bleriot, a portly and red-mustached man, descended from the saddle limping on a bandaged foot, which had been burned on his previous overland flight.

Immediately two compatriots, who had been waving a big tri-colored flag as a signal for the landing place, fell upon him enthusiastically, embracing him, shouting and pounding him on the back. They, with a few soldiers and others, who happened by chance to be on the scene, were the only persons to witness the finish of a most remarkable feat.

Bleriot left Les Baraques, three miles from Calais, about 4:30 a. m. on one of the smallest monoplanes ever used. He crossed the channel, twenty-one miles, in 23 minutes, twice as swiftly as the fastest mail boat. He kept about 250 feet above the sea level and for ten minutes, while about midchannel, was out of sight of both coasts and the French torpedo boat destroyer which followed him with his wife and friends abroad.

Eyewitness on the Landing.

The wind was blowing about twenty miles an hour and the sea was choppy. The aviator was swathed in a single garment of drilling impervious to the wind, which covered him from the top of his head to his feet, only his face showing. He wore also a cork life belt. An eyewitness of the landing thus describes it: "Very early in the morning a wireless message was received from Calais that Bleriot intended to make the flight. Then in quick succession came the news that he had left land; that he was flying high and was fast making Dover. It was expected that he would land west of Dover, but from the direction taken it was soon evident that he would alight to the eastward. Only a few minutes after the wireless announcing the start the laconic message, 'Out of sight,' was received at Dover. Hardly had this been transcribed when the keen-eyed coast guard, scanning the sea with his telescope shouted that Bleriot was within sight.

"Hastening to the cliff east of the bay I was fortunate enough to arrive just a moment before the airship, which was flying fast like a gigantic hawk. The craft approached the cliff growing larger every instant. The noise of the engine was audible in a moment, so swiftly did it come. Bleriot swooped overhead, glancing from right to left, and then turned his machine to the east and came to the ground in the meadow. It circled with consummate ease, and made the landing gracefully, but even though it touched the land lightly, it was slightly damaged."

By his achievement Bleriot won the prize of $5,000 offered by the London Daily Mail for the first flight across the English channel, and stole a march on his rivals, Hubert Latham and Count De Lambert, both of whom had hoped to make the attempt today.

Describes His Remarkable Flight.

"I arose at 3 o'clock," he said, "and went to the aeroplane shed. Finding everything in order on the trial spin, I decided to make the flight. The French torpedo boat destroyer, which was inattendance, was signaled, and it put out about four miles. Then I rose in the air and pointed directly to Dover. After ten minutes I was out of sight of land and had left the warship well behind. For a few minutes I could not see either coast or any boat. I tried to keep at an average height of 250 feet. I might easily have gone higher, but it would have served no purpose. This was about the right height, I thought, to clear the Dover cliffs safely.

"The machine dipped toward the water several times. I put on more petrol once. I estimated that the propellers were going 1,200 to 1,400 revolutions a minute.

"The first objects I saw were ships off the English coast, then I observed Deal, and I discovered that the wind, which was southwest, was carrying me thither. I veered to the southward to Dover Castle, and then saw my friend flourishing a flag in a valley suitable for landing. I made two circles while lessening the speed, and then dived down, but I came in contact with the ground sooner than I expected. Both the machine and myself were badly shaken up.

"A few persons quickly assembled and I was helped out, as my injured foot was painful. I am exceedingly glad to be here."

M. Bleriot's friends took him quickly in an automobile to the old Lord Warden hotel, by the pier, from which mailboats depart. In the meantime his wife arrived on the destroyer. She embraced him, weeping, but they were soon sitting at breakfast, the center of a proud gathering of French people. The mayor and other Dover officials called early and welcomed M. Bleriot in the name of the city and nation as the pioneer of international flight.

Dover is Caught Napping.

The townspeople of Dover, who for three weeks have been on the alert for the signal announcing that one of the flying men had started, were caught napping. A gale was blowing last night, and the weather forecasts promised strong wind and squalls in the morning. Hence the operators of the sirens on the steamers, which it had been arranged should be blown when the flyer started, were absent from their posts. Only a few persons received the wireless warning of Bleriot's ascent.

M. La Fontaine, a friend of the aviator, arrived at the old Lord Warden hotel from Calais at midnight. He declined a bed room with the remark that he had an appointment to meet M. Bleriot at 5 o'clock. The hotel people thought the mysterious stranger was joking.

M. La Fontaine came to the signal landing, the spot which the newspaper under whose auspices the flight was made, had chosen, on the high ground back of the city, but he selected a cup-shaped depression, called the North Fall meadow, two miles east of Dover, where the airship would be sheltered from the wind in settling. There he planted the French flag.

The sailors on the ships in the harbor were the first to discover that Bleriot was approaching. They heard the buzzing of the motor two or three minutes before they could discern the aeroplane. Then what looked like a big white butterfly glided over their heads as fast as a train of cars and with almost as much noise. It reached the cliff near the gray turrets of Dover Castle, swooped around twice in broad curves and disappeared.

It was not long before half the people of Dover, dressing as they went, were rushing toward North Fall meadow. Photographers and cinematographers were crestfallen because they had missed the great event, for which they had waited so long.

Police Fight Back Curio Seekers.

Among the first to arrive were two customs officers. Close upon their heels were several police, and their services were needed to restrain the curio-hunters, who immediately began to pull the machine to pieces for souvenirs. Many others, foreseeing that the monoplane would be treasured as a historic relic, wrote their autographs thereon.

The city officials conceived a happy thought and with Bleriot's consent raised a tent about the machine and charged six pence admission to view it. The profits from this enterprise will go to the hospitals and the police pension fund and the exhibition did a big business all day.

Parts of the framework of the monoplane were splintered on landing. Every one expressed surprise at its small size. It is not more than twenty feet across the wings and its weight is about 400 pounds, the motor being twenty-five-horse power. In the same machine Bleriot recently made a cross-country trip of twenty-five miles from Etampes to Orleans. It is the smallest of three he took to Calais. The machine is fitted with an air-tight, sausage shaped rubber bag, so that it would float if it descended to the sea.

Bleriot said, however, that he had absolute control of the machine throughout and had no fear that the motor would fail. The only difficulty he experienced was the force of the wind, which hurt his face and eyes badly and the wind eddies which twisted his machine about while nearing the English coast.

Count De Lambert came from Calais by boat to congratulate his rival. A telegram arrived from Hubert Latham, who a few days ago failed in his attempt to cross the channel, saying: "I hope to follow you soon."

Bleriot early announced that if Latham crossed the same day he would share the prize with him, but the heavy wind and the rain that came up dashed the hopes of Latham's attempting to follow.

M. Bleriot returned to Calais on the destroyer yesterday afternoon, but recrossed today for the official reception to be tendered by the Dover municipality. Afterward he goes to London, where a demonstration has been arranged in his honor.

Bleriot, in leaving the shores of France, left behind a group of spectators, who, while they were filled with admiration at the man's daring, feared lest he might be overcome. There was applause when the monoplane arose, but it was somewhat restrained through anxiety; then there was keen suspense, but when the word came that Bleriot had reached England, a mighty cheer was sent up, for a great crowd had gathered. The news of his triumph spread quickly and celebrations were held everywhere.

In spite of his injured leg, Bleriot stole a march on his rivals, Latham and Count Lambert. The former, deceived by the high winds of the day before, thought that a start would be impossible Sunday morning, while Count Lambert had gone to England to pick out a likely place. At a conference of the aviators Saturday night it was decided that the torpedo boats should be at the disposition of Latham and the destroyer at the disposal of Bleriot, should the men decide to start.

Rivals Separate at Midnight.

It was midnight when the rivals separated, Latham going to Sangatte and Bleriot sleeping at Calais. At 3 o'clock Bleriot, who was determined not to allow the slightest chance to escape, proceeded to the shed at Sangatte and his monoplane was pushed out. To the handful of people who had gathered there the spectacle of this man, hobbling on crutches, dreaming of a flight to England, had something awe-inspiring, even terrifying, in it. Bleriot was coolest of all. He cast aside his crutches and took his place in the monoplane, on which he already had hoisted a red flag to guide the rescuers in case he should fail. As he sat there smiling and ready to give the signal he said:

"If I can't walk, I will show the world that I can fly."

The monoplane rose easily, and made two circles above the land. Peasants, aroused by the whirring of the motors, appeared at their doors and cheered. Shortly Bleriot descended. His motor was running perfectly, and he had confirmed the fact that he had a favoring south-southwest breeze.

The critical moment was at hand. Anzani, the constructor of the motor, stepped forward and set the motor in motion. Bleriot pulled down his cap and settled himself calmly in his seat, waving farewell and at 4:36 o'clock the monoplane arose and sped seaward. Fourteen minutes later, flying high above the water, it was lost in the mists overhanging the channel. The hearts of the onlookers beat fast, and they screened their eyes until the monoplane was a mere speck and finally disappeared. The destroyer, which had been warned to prepare, steamed swiftly in pursuit, but the flying man was faster, and soon left it far behind.

Bleriot's feat has aroused the most intense enthusiasm in aeronautical circles, where the achievement is regarded as a well earned victory for daring. The French Aero club and the parliamentary aviation commission telegraphed their congratulations, the latter adding: "Hosanna, for the peace of the world."

Now for Improved Streets

It is a good time for loyal citizens to get together and pull together.

Fort Wayne's best interests demand it.

The betterment of the city in a dozen different ways is urgent.

Instead of appealing to others to do something let us each contribute our own efforts.

Let us start on paving betterments.

Street improvements will result only from combined effort.

Then why not combine?

Calhoun street as a main business thoroughfare is not a paving credit to the city.

Why not make it so?

This company will volunteer to do its share of the paving at any time.

This means from Superior street to the Pennsylvania tracks, paving almost half the street.

It also means on our part about $50,000 of outlay.

Will the private property owners co-operate in securing COMPLETE paving of Calhoun street?

If so, why not take the matter up in dead earnest with the city government FORTHWITH.

We do not mean for discussions and delays BUT FOR ACTION.

Not for right paving NEXT year but for right paving THIS year.

The city sees the need, knows something must be done, but fails to act.

If the citizens, regardless of party differences at the polls, will unite for IMMEDIATE paving improvement, we shall get a more creditable Calhoun street in 1909.

We are ready to do the company's large share. It is a general improvement; one for the benefit of all; so it appeals to us.

In the words of labor: LET US GET ON TO THE JOB.

Read our next Talk.

The Sad Fate of Jim Smith and His Prize Whiskers.

THE DETECTIVES HAD NO SUCCESS WHILE MR SMITH WORE THAT BEARD—
J. NORMAN LUND.
BUT AS SOON AS THEY GOT HIM SEPARATED FROM IT.—
THEY GOT RESULTS.

Williamsport, Pa., July 26.—To recover $1,250 taken from him by confidence men, "Jim" Smith, a prominent citizen of Jersey Shore, a thriving metropolis near here, is now minus his highly prized set of flowing whiskers.

Smith's shrubbery was known for miles around. He had cultivated it for forty years and had been socially ostracized by every barber in the community. His foliage covered the entire lower portion of his face, beginning at the lobe of the right ear, continuing thence in an easterly direction to the knees, then due west for two feet and up the other side, completely enveloping his front and giving him the appearance of an animated hay mow. They were black and white in color and from a distance resembled shepherd's plaid.

"Jim" ran afoul of some slick articles recently and was relieved of his cash.

"Fred" Tepel, county detective, told "Jim" they could catch the fellows if "Jim" would consent to lance his lambrequin. He refused to listen to such a proposition at first.

After a while "Jim" agreed to amputate his breezy buffers. He removed two feet of fringe, but Tepel refused to take the case until he scraped his chin bare. With tears in his eyes "Jim" ordered the barber to "take 'em off" as near to the face as possible. The hair was gathered up, packed into a moving van and carted away to the poorhouse to be used for stuffing beds.

Then "Jim" and the policeman took up the trail. They located the show at Dushore yesterday and arrested the alleged confidence men. The latter restored "Jim's" money and he returned home last night.

Madam, See What You Lose On 5-Cent Cans

The 10-cent cans of Van Camp's Milk give you sixteen ounces—the 5-cent cans only six ounces. Note how much this means.

You get six ounces of evaporated milk in a 5-cent can of Van Camp's.

But you get sixteen ounces in the 10-cent can—a full pint. And you get the same milk in both.

That is one of the ways in which you lose money by buying the 5-cent can. Let us explain them all.

Thin milk, with too little water evaporated, costs just the same as Van Camp's.

So you get just as much of Van Camp's as you get of the poorest milk on the market.

But you spend more than you ought when you buy any milk in the 5-cent size.

If you use only part, you can leave the rest in the can and use it next day. You don't need to buy in small cans for fear the opened cans will spoil.

No Maker Gives More

No maker gives more than six ounces of evaporated milk for five cents.

The milk as it comes to you is 28 per cent solids, 8 per cent butter fat.

If you replace the water which we take out, you should get rich milk for about six cents per quart.

That is based on buying the 10-cent cans, and buying them by the case. For grocers give discounts on cases.

But the 5-cent cans—even when bought by the case—make the milk cost you over eight cents per quart when you replace the water.

So you will see you are paying just one-third more when you buy the 5-cent cans.

Our Object Is This

It may seem better for us to sell six ounces for 5 cents than sixteen ounces for 10 cents.

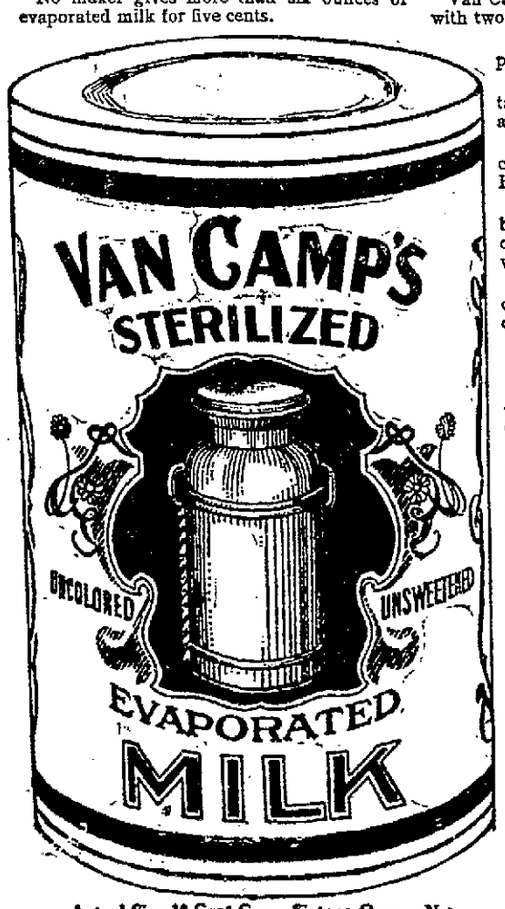
But it isn't. Our interest lies in making this milk economical. It should completely displace milkman's milk.

Van Camp's Milk serves every purpose fully twice better than raw milk. You will use more of it when you learn these facts, and learn the economical can.

Then the usual milk sold in 5-cent cans is often a vastly inferior milk.

So we urge you to buy the 10-cent cans and get the full worth of your money.

And don't buy from day to day, as you bought milkman's milk. Buy a case at a time and get the case discount. Then you will have the best milk in America for less than poor milk costs.



Actual Size 10-Cent Can. Sixteen Ounces Net.

Use It for Cooking

The trouble is here: Most people who buy the 5-cent cans don't use Van Camp's for cooking.

They use it for coffee and cereals, perhaps. But they still use raw milk for making milk dishes. And there they lose the greatest service that Van Camp's Milk can render.

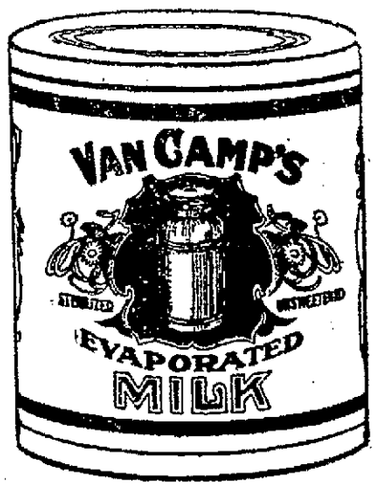
Milk dishes made with Van Camp's have a flavor and richness which raw milk never gives. You will use Van Camp's forever when you once learn the difference.

The reason is that raw milk separates. The butter fat rises and the solids fall. When milkman's milk is used in cooking, it generally comes very far from whole milk.

Van Camp's is whole milk. It has all of the butter fat, all of the solids it had when it came from the cow. It will make your milk dishes twice as delicious as dishes made of raw milk.

Van Camp's Milk Keeps

Van Camp's Milk will keep because it is thoroughly sterilized. An opened can will keep 24 hours in ordinary weather. It will keep 48 hours or longer on ice.



Actual Size 5-Cent Can. Six Ounces Net.

Gardner—Straight.

The wedding of Miss Hazel Straight, daughter of Mrs. Edith Straight, of Brackenridge street, and Mr. G. Warner Gardner, an employe of the Hamilton National bank, took place on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at Trinity Episcopal church. Rev. E. W. Averill read the marriage service in the presence of family relatives. The bride was unattended, but walked in with her brother, Mr. Owen Straight, who gave her away. The bride, who is a beautiful young woman, looked very well in her wedding costume of rajah silk made with a long coat for traveling and a hat in brown tones to correspond. The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to the lakes and on their return will make their home with Mrs. Straight. Mr. Gardner's former home was in Coldwater, Mich., and he is a young man who enjoys the respect and warm friendship of his acquaintances. Previous to the ceremony and during the service the organist, Mr. Church, presided at the organ.

Useful One Piece Apron

(By Mrs. Jane Ford.)

521

6 SIZES 2 TO 12 YEARS

When considering garments for children it should be remembered that those of a simple cut are always more desirable than models that are complicated or elaborate, either in trimming or design.

The one piece apron shown in this illustration is especially attractive at this season, because small girls can use it either as an apron or a dress.

The pattern for it is cut in six sizes and will fit children from two to twelve years of age. To copy it for a girl eight years old, two and one-quarter yards of goods twenty-seven inches wide, or one and three-quarters yards thirty-six inches in width, will be needed.

If the yoke and armholes are trimmed with insertion, two and one-eighth yards will be needed.

The diagram shows one-half of the apron pattern. The centre front is laid on a lenghtwise fold of the fabric, and after the garment is cut the yoke and armholes should be finished before the hem is stitched at the back, and also before the underarm seams are sewed.

When intended for morning wear, gingham, either of a plaid or striped design, will be serviceable.

The trimming may be strips of the goods cut on the bias and stitched, or bands of embroidered insertion. The latter may be secured in a fine quality of Hamburg, about one inch wide, or from ten to twelve cents a yard.

Recently I saw a dress made like this model and intended for a little girl three years old. It was of white butcher's linen, the yoke and sleeves finished in Dutch blue.

In each scallop was placed a polka dot of the same color and about the size of a ten cent piece. A material belt was embroidered to match. The dress was worn over a white lawn guimpe, finely tucked and feather-stitched with blue. The same idea in ornamentation could be carried out in other colors, such as pink, dark blue, red or brown.

American Women's Taste in Shoes

It has been said that a French woman begins her toilet with her shoes and dresses upward, but that the American woman gives her attention first to her hat and dresses downward, the least attention being paid to the foot covering. Now, while this statement may have been true in the past, shoemakers declare the exact opposite exists today.

For in no other part of the world are such pretty and graceful models turned out as in the United States, and this because the women demand it. Not being content with boots that are neat and comfortable, they want models that are also appropriate for every occasion.

And in this they differ from the French women, though the latter have gained a reputation for smart dressing by strict attention to details.

If any one nowadays doubts that women who live in the large cities of America are less careful about toilet accessories than Parisennes, let her visit the corsetieres the high class specialty houses, and, above all, the exclusive shoe stores, and be convinced, for the display of foot dressings will be a revelation of what art can produce in anything so prosaic. For instance, imagine a pair of the daintiest bronze slippers displaying an embroidery of bronze beads which consumed nine days of the worker's time, and when she had finished begged to be excused from embroidering another pair.

This may sound like needless extravagance, but the woman was paid $2 a day, so that such so called extravagance also means employment.

Much of the work of dainty shoemaking is done by women. The exquisite little mules of brocade and ribbon that my lady slips her feet into first in the morning are women's work, and so is much of the finishing of the other shoes.

A Dainty Summer Gown

The new marabou scarfs are beautifully light and dencate, strips of the feathers being sewn at intervals on the softest chiffon. The whole effect, while light and fleecy, conveys an idea of richness, and the marabou-chiffon scarfs are really quite as expensive as the stoles of all marabou plumage.

NOTES OF FASHION.

The Pilgrim rugs are lovely for cottage or bungalow use, or, indeed, they may be used with advantage in bedrooms of city houses. Woven from soft cotton, they come in cool looking grays, coral pinks, robin's egg blue, delicate greens and old rose tones, with figured borders. Sometimes these are in landscape effects, giving a charming touch of color. Hangings of chintz to match the rugs in coloring may be secured, so a most harmonious effect in furnishings may be created.

* * *

I have been told that the silver spangled Egyptian scarfs worn so much all the year round may, when tarnished, be restored by washing in a strong solution of ammonia and water. I have not tried this method myself, and I think it might be well to experiment with a small piece of tarnished trimming first.

* * *

The fashion of wearing transparent sleeves is certainly a comfortable one during warm weather, hence its great popularity, for these sleeves cover every type of arm imaginable—arms so fat they resemble small bolsters, thin arms, white arms and sallow ones. Indeed, until one has spent half an hour in the shopping district it is hard to believe there could be such a variety of arms. The fashion may be a pretty one as well as a comfortable one if the wearers would only back the sleeves with a thin white chiffon or mouseline de soie. This tone may be used whether the sleeves are white, black or a color.

THE DRAPED SKIRT.

Draped overskirts and festooned sashes seem to be returning to favor again. For evening wear draped skirts are almost exclusively shown. Of course, for day and general use the fashion is not as adaptable, but scarfs and ribbon sashes are added to give the new effects even on lingerie frocks. Sometimes a sash is brought around the waist to the front and then taken back, suggestive of panniers and knotted at the left side or in the back.

Only a tall, slender girl could stand such a decoration, and an artistic arrangement is necessary to success even when the figure is slender.

USE HAY WATER FOR BRONZE STOCKINGS.

A handful of hay boiled in the water to be used for washing tan or bronze stockings is an excellent remedy to prevent the color from fading. You do not use soap, but after boiling the hay you strain the water off and use it for cleansing the hose. More water should be poured on the hay and allowed to become lukewarm. This is to be used for the rinsing water. Hang the stockings to dry in the shade, turned inside out.

Care of Dress Accessories

Lingerie waists should be pressed when they are mussed and not soiled, but if they are stained with perspiration, be it ever so little, do not press them. Wash them at once, and if they are delicate or old sew them up in an old pillow slip while you are doing it.

Clean your white shoes with gasoline. Then when it has wholly evaporated wash them in peroxide of hydrogen and set in the sun to dry.

If you get grass stains on any cotton or linen fabrics rub it with black molasses, then wash in the regular way.

If you have a lot of Irish lace jabots or collars, after they are washed pick out each figure and picot with a fine crochet hook. That's what the professionals do.

Chamois gloves may be washed in a lukewarm lather of white soapsuds. Wash through soapy water twice, pat and squeeze, but do not wring hard. Rinse well in lukewarm water, wrap in a heavy towel until most of the water is out, then hang up to dry. Do not wring or squeeze the water out. When they are dry rub between the hands until they are soft and pliable; stretch with the glove stretcher, and they will be like new.

If you have dropped grease on a white dress and there is no cleaning stuff at hand, rub the spot with talcum powder, brush out, rub the powder in again and leave the spot over night, liberally covered with talcum. It will take it almost all out.

Run a basting thread with long stitches in your plaited jabots before laundering. It will save a lot of trouble when they are ready for ironing.

Iron rust stains must be rubbed with lemon and salt, and held in the steam of a rapidly boiling kettle. This is much quicker and better than the old way of laying the spot in the sun.

Most people know that one can touch up faded artificial flowers with water color paints or oil paints mixed with gasoline; but pink flowers can be touched up with rouge and look much better than do cheeks painted with the same stuff.

The most wonderful straw hat bargains ever heard of will be found at the Patterson-Fletcher store.

Said little Bess, with laughter light,

Before she went to by-lo land;

"And though I had to keep real still
I almost laughed against my will,
For what d'you s'pose my dolly said?
'O, give us now Perfection Bread;' "

EDITOR IS MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT.

Tulsa, Okla., July 26.—With a revolver lying on the floor beside him, Mark Bassett, editor of the Tulsa Daily News, formerly a publisher at Mattoon and Kankakee, Ill., and manager of the Yates press bureau in the republican primary campaign in Illinois last year, was found fatally wounded in the shop of the A. F. Black Printing company yesterday morning. This discovery was made by his little son, who had an appointment to meet his father there, as the two were expecting to attend Sunday school at the First M. E. church.

The bullet had not carried instant death with it, although Bassett was shot through the brain. The statement was given out last night that there is but little chance for recovery.

With no powder marks on the face, when in case of suicide it is almost impossible to escape them, and without a known motive for self-destruction, the suicide theory is divided with the opinion that a murder has been attempted.

The Tulsa News, heavily financed, was to make its appearance next month as the organ of the Independent element in politics in this part of Oklahoma. Mr. Bassett was principal owner of the paper as well as its editor. Among the promoters was Mayor John O. Mitchell.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

Every pore and gland of the skin is employed in the necessary work of preserving its smooth even texture, softening and cleansing it, and regulating the temperature of our bodies. This is done by an evaporation through each tiny outlet, which goes on continually day and night. When the blood becomes infected with humors and acids a certain percentage of these impurities also pass off with the natural evaporation, and their sour, fiery nature irritates and inflames the skin, and dries up its natural oils, causing pimples, boils, pustules or some itching rash, or hard, scaly skin affection. S S S cures skin troubles of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. S.S.S cools the acid-heated circulation builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its nutritious red corpuscles, and enriches it in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S.S.S., the greatest of blood purifiers, expels all foreign matter and surely cures Eczema Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum and all other diseases and affections of the skin. It removes pimples, blackheads, and other unsightly blemishes from the skin and assists in restoring a good complexion. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

REGISTERED TRADE MARK.

On buying an article do not select the cheap, shoddy kind, thinking that it will answer your purpose. In the long run it is the most expensive. Taking for instance a Refrigerator. If you buy a cheap one in a few years it will go to pieces and you will have to replace it. You will use two or three boxes in a lifetime, whereas if you select a BOHN-SYPHON REFRIGERATOR you will use but one and your ice bills will be cut in two. Don't fail to figure the expense of icing your Refrigerator, for a cheap Refrigerator consumes two or three times as much ice as a thick wall box with felt or cork lining.

MILLER COMES BACK TO GAME WITH ECLAT

Goes Fifteen Innings to a Tie With the Stag Outfit.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 26.—Walter Miller's return to the game after a little idleness forced upon him by President F. R. Carson, of the Central league, following a run-in with Umpire Mike Jacobs at Zanesville in the first series of the present road trip, was the occasion of much eclat for the eminent citizen of Broad Ripple, as he held the Raiders to three runs in fifteen innings and the Sabbath performance was finally closed with the score tied, 3 to 3.

Thirteen hits were registered against Sir Walter and a couple of them were for extra bases, but Blount did some sensational work behind him and kept him out of trouble when the casual observer had concluded that the big end of the fray belonged to Grand Rapids. Manager Joe Raidy in the meantime had hurried two pitchers to the relief and one of them was his best bet in the person of Casey Hagerman, but the Fort Wayne players sized him up so successfully that Bert Humphries was eventually assigned a regular job on the mound and he prevented any scoring, while he was on duty.

Blount made three thrilling catches in center field and in each instance he saved the day. Koley Kehoe routed one to the woods in the engagement and the fast Youngstown lad copped it with one hand, and he pulled one down for Raidy in the twelfth that was going at a rate that promised defeat to the visitors. Then in the thirteenth he put the side out with a running catch of a fly off Clark's stick.

Fort Wayne got an early lead and held it until the eighth. Lester Channell hit for three bases in the third with one gone, Elston was passed under orders and Lindsay whiffed. McDermott hit for a base and sent two men over. Walter Miller hit for two bases in the fourth and Blount scored him with a single. The visitors did not count again.

Larue scored in the third on a pass, Raidy's single and Donahue's foozle. The tieing runs were made on hits by Raidy and Hennessey, a sacrifice fly and Sam McNiece's two-base hit. The score:

SHAMROCKS GET TWO GAMES IN GOOD STYLE

Hit Hard and Played Good Ball in the Field and Won.

The Shamrocks took a double victory in the encounter with Van Wert at League park yesterday afternoon and in addition to treating a big crowd—in fact the biggest the team has played to this season—to some clean baseball Captain Jack Smith piloted his followers to the top of the column in the Class A Independent association. The score in the first event was 6 to 3 and in the second the locals simply hit the ball at will and piled up a 16-to-6 final.

Waldo has taken the shortfield position, which has been hard to fill this season, and he steadied up the infield in his initial performance and hit in good style and the Shamrocks looked better from the stands in the game yesterday than at any time since Manager Mart Cleary began beating the bushes early in the spring for new material with which to fill up the holes in his lineup.

Diederich was hit hard in the first game, but he had faultless support and there was only one bobble when Meier fell down in handling a grounder at first base, but this cost nothing. Donovan had hard sailing with his support and lost, although he was not hit as hard as his opponent.

Woodmansee was uncorked by Van Wert for the second fray and he went along all right until the third, when he was hit hard and helped matters by issuing five passes, all of which put him so far to the bad that Van Wert never had a chance. Quinlan started for Fort Wayne, but in the face of a long lead he was hit freely and finally he was derricked and Robbins finished. The scores:

Big Leaguers Coming for a Game

Manager Jack Hendricks will use up his open date in the Central league schedule tomorrow in playing an engagement with the famous St. Louis Browns and local baseball patrons will have an opportunity to see some of the great men of the diamond and to greet at least two old favorites in the persons of "Lou" Criger, who was purchased last winter from Boston, and Jack Powell, both of whom wore Fort Wayne uniforms in the day of their dawning upon the baseball horizon.

There will be Rube Waddell who is not only a great pitcher but whose eccentricities have made him the great figure in baseball that he is today and then "Topsy" Hartzell, an old Interstate leaguer, at short, and George Stone, for several years one of the leading batsmen of the majors. The club is made up of men who are well known to every follower of the game and under the agreement with the management and the only agreement that could be obtained the local passes will not be recognized at the gate.

In addition ladies' day will be abolished and fair fans who want to see the game will separate themselves from just as much money at the gates as the men folks. Last year the local club sprung a surprise by beating the St. Louis Nationals and had Manager McCloskey fuming and frothing all during the engagement. Not only this but he had "Stoney" McGlynn in the box—the very same man who is the sensation this season of the American association. The management has asked that the duty of pitching be divided between Powell and Waddell.

Fort Wayne's road record this trip has been an excellent one and an even break is almost assured. This record has been made with the top notch clubs and away from home where all the close decisions are to be contended with. The team will arrive in a special sleeper from Grand Rapids in the morning and a big crowd will not only be present to see the big league performers but to greet the home lads and show an appreciation of the good work on the road.

Roosevelt's Danger Is Nothing

in comparison with the risks taken by the men who capture alive the wild animals for the circus and the zoo.

Roosevelt is an expert rifle shot. No lion or rhino will reach him. But the animal catchers court death daily. The most dangerous trade in the world is thrillingly described by Captain Fritz Duquesne, the Boer ivory hunter—and after you have read his article you'll know why a white rhinoceros is worth $30,000.

An amazing story of the "bright red face of danger." In

HIS CLEVER MOVE.

How a Quaker City Tenant Outwitted the Landlord.

WHEN recently leasing a house in a fashionable suburb of Philadelphia the lessee failed to examine closely the terms of the lease. After a time his landlord called and reminded him that he was bound to do all the outside painting at certain intervals. The tenant protested in vain, so he engaged painters and ordered them to paint the whole front of the house red, white and blue—in stripes.

When it was finished the neighborhood rose up in arms, and the landlord was frantic. The tenant politely explained that there was nothing in the lease about the color, so he intended to finish the job by painting the back of the house green with large yellow spots. The landlord saw that he had met his match, and within a few days the tenant had a new lease in which the landlord undertook to do all the outside painting.—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Truce.

Braun (finding his neighbors in the midst of a domestic quarrel)—But what are you doing under the bed, Tips?

Tips—Looking for a mark that we lost, aren't I, my dear?

Mrs. Tips—Yes, but you can come out now. You can look for it again after Herr Braun has gone.—Fliegende Blatter.

The Wane of the Honeymoon.

"Haven't you forgotten something?" the sweet young wife called to him from the open doorway.

He stopped and fumbled in his pockets.

"What is it?"

"You—you used to kiss me when you started downtown," she said, with a little flush on her rounded cheeks.

"Oh, is that it?" he cried as he retraced his steps. "There you are. And, say, I'll take enough for four mornings ahead. Hang it all, there goes my car!"

And he made the gravel fly as he raced for the street crossing.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In the Future.

Pausing at the entrance to the church wherein the wedding ceremony is being performed, we note an airship tugging at its moorings and at one side concealed in the shrubbery a huge mortar or siege gun. About this latter are grouped a merry party of young folk, who are laughing gayly and are loading the weapon to the muzzle with old shoes and rice.

"What are you doing?" we inquire casually.

"They're going away in their airship on their honeymoon trip," explains one of the joyous party. "Just when they clear the steeple of the church we are going to let them have the contents of this gun."—Chicago Post.

GREAT TRAINED ANIMAL SHOW

Gentry Brothers' Bring Their Famed Exhibition Here Wednesday.

Bigger and better than ever, Gentry Brothers Famous Shows, America's greatest trained animal exhibition, will arrive in Fort Wayne Wednesday, July 28, and give two of their delightful performances, one at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon and the other at 8:15 at night.

The formal opening of the big tented exposition's engagement will be at 10:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning, when the glittering parade, symbolic of the fables of Mother Goose, leaves the show grounds and wends its way through the principal streets of the city.

While the parade of Gentry Brothers' Famous Shows gives only an idea of the wonderful intelligence of its talented animal actors, it is a pageant of gilt and splendor. Well groomed, happy dogs and monkeys posed in classic postures picture to the eye the old, old tales of Mother Goose; and as the little wagons upon which the tableauxs are posed move through the streets, drawn by six, eight and ten horse teams of prancing, polished little ponies, they not only draw acclaim from the children, but from the grown-ups as well.

There are no waits in the Gentry Shows.

Promptly at the time specified a bugle rings out from the band stand and the big show is on.

Following the grand entry, which is participated in by all of the educated elephants, camels, zebras, baboons, dogs, cats and ponies connected with the Gentry Shows, as well as by all of the troupes of European acrobats, clowns, aerialists and the marvelous Kiami troupe of Japanese acrobats, the band breaks into stirring military melody, and fifty educated high school ponies, their coats shining with velvety luster, dash into the ring, led by Ringmaster Rush, mounted on his famous Arabian saddle horse, "Don."

Two hundred tiny hoofs twinkle in the tan bark, fifty manes wave before the delighted eyes of the spectators and in obedience to the commands of their leader the high spirited little animals go through astounding evolutions, building pyramids and giving a military drill with exact percision.

After the dainty little equine actors gallop from the ring, act follows act in quick succession. There is the elephant band, the only musical ponies in the world, trained kittens, educated razor back hogs, scores of bright happy dogs and monkeys, wonderful acrobatic acts and a sensational feat of endurance, performed by Mlle Marionette DeOesche, who, while suspended by her teeth from the very dome of the tent, dances a serpentine dance in a perfect symmetry of motion, swings heavy Indian clubs about her head and handles iron dumb bells with ease and dexterity.

Then comes old Dr. Milligan, the only monkey physician in the world, the famous Snyder family of monkeys, papa, mama and the baby; monkeys who act as barbers, wash dishes and press clothing and the only monkeys in the world who form a complete train crew and operate a real steam locomotive and train of cars.

It is announced that for the engagement in Fort Wayne only, the price of admission has been reduced to 25c.

Japan's interest bearing debt in 1878 was $33,000,000. In 1909 it is, in round figures, $1,120,000,000. The interest bearing debt of the United States was $1,500,000,000 in 1878. It is $913,000,000 today. While our debt is only about half as great as it was thirty-one years ago, Japan's is thirty-four times as large as it was at that time; and while we were reducing our indebtedness our population was growing rapidly.

THOMAS LANGLEY KILLED WHILE ADJUSTING A LAMP

His Body the Medium for Grounding Electric Current.

Thomas Langley, a stationary fireman at the Pennsylvania power plant, received an electric shock at 4 o'clock Sunday morning from which he died an hour later while on his way to St. Joseph hospital in the Barnett ambulance. The electrical current, which it is claimed was not over 110 voltage, entered the body of the fireman by means of an extension wire, on the end of which was a common incandescent lamp. The investigation into the matter has led to the belief that the lamp on the end of the wire was broken and that Langley was taking it off to put on another. While doing this he was leaning against the iron railing and, his clothes being damp from perspiration, his body acted as a ground conductor to the current when his fingers happened to touch the exposed end of the wire and he was knocked down by the blow. Marks on his body and on the fingers of his right hand indicate this. A comrade of the unfortunate man saw him fall and calling to his brother, William Langley, who was at work outside on the cinder pit, an effort was made to resuscitate the stricken man. In the meantime an effort was being made to summon a physician and failing in this, the Barnett ambulance was called and Langley was being rapidly driven to St. Joseph's hospital when he died.

Thomas Langley was born in St. Joseph township November 27, 1887, being the son of the late William Langley, who died several years ago. He came to Fort Wayne to take employment with the Pennsylvania company and was for two years employed as a fireman at the power plant, where one of his brothers is similarly employed. He had decided to engage in business for himself, having considerable money left him by his father, and this week would have been his last at the power station.

The body was turned over to Schone & Co., who prepared it for burial, when it was taken to the home of the step-father, S. A. Ransom, fourteen miles east of the city, from whence the funeral will be held, with church services later from the Cathedral, of which congregation the deceased was a member, and interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Surviving the deceased are the mother, Mrs. S. A. Ransom, of Milan township, and three brothers, William W. and George A. Langley, of this city, and Chester E. Langley, of Akron, Ind. The mother, who was summoned here immediately after the death of her son, collapsed as soon as she reached the city and was in a serious condition for awhile.

A voltage of 110 is not considered in the least dangerous and if it proves fatal to the one receiving it it is because of a very weak heart or some other derangement of the organs of the body. Langley appeared to be a strong, healthy man.

PLEASURE TRIP FOR VETS

To Beautiful Robison Park on Nickel Plate Day.

Supt. S. K. Blair, who is chairman of the entertainment committee for the third annual gathering of the Nickel Plate Veterans' association, is at work on the program. This morning he made arrangements with General Manager C. D. Emmons, of the electric line, for special cars sufficient to carry the "Vets" on a tour of the city and out to Robison park just before the banquet at the Hotel Anthony. The latter will be in the evening and covers will be laid for about 200 people. Dr. J. M. Dinnen will be the toastmaster and responses will be made by President W. H. Canniff, General Manager A. W. Johnston, General Passenger Agent B. F. Horner and other high officials. The meeting takes place September 4.

JUMPED AND WAS HURT.

Henry Misselhorn Injured in Getting Off Train.

At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Henry Misselhorn was painfully hurt by jumping from a moving train on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road at a point midway between Rome City and Wolcottville. The accident was witnessed by some men in an automobile, who went to Misselhorn's assistance and took him to the Kneipp sanitarium, where he received surgical attention and was then taken in an automobile to his home in Kendallville. No statement from the man could be obtained, but it is presumed he got aboard the train at Kendallville to ride to Rome City, where the train did not stop, and not caring to ride farther he took chances on his life by jumping.

ROLLED BY A TRAIN.

Charles Miller Falls Between Cars and Platform.

Charles Miller was rolled a considerable distance between the edge of a railway platform and some cars in a freight train at Pierceton yesterday and escaped with a few bad scalp wounds and some body bruises, none serious. Miller, who is eighteen years old, attempted to get aboard the train and missed his hold. He went down between the cars and the planks and eye-witnesses expected to see his body torn into shreds. When the train was stopped, the young man climbed from his perilous position, smiling, and telling those who had rushed to the scene that he was not badly hurt.

GENERAL FOREMEN'S MEETING.

Master Mechanic Smith Calls Lieutenants to Conference.

Master Mechanic G. W. Smith, of the Wabash, called his general shop foremen and road foremen of engineers about him this morning to go over the situation for the benefit of all and in the interest of the Wabash company in particular. The meeting was held in Mr. Smith's office and those who participated in it were General Foreman H. Eisele, of this city; J. N. Robertson, of St. Thomas; W. C. Bewler, of Delray; J. L. Flinn, of Montpelier; J. J. Shanahan, of Peru; A. S. Mead, of Peru, and E. A. Sollitt, of Montpelier. The two last named are road foremen of engines. The others are general shop foremen.

YESTERDAY'S EXCURSIONS.

There was an unusual movement of pleasure-seekers yesterday, notwithstanding the fact that nearly 1,500 went to Cedar Point the preceding day. The G. R. & I. took 900 people to Rome City, the Wabash took 265 to Toledo and 247 to Detroit, the Lake Shore took 400 to the lakes north and about the same number there Saturday evening and the Nickel Plate handled about 400 people in and out of the city on its Sunday dollar rate plan. The C., H. & D. had a big excursion party—579 people—into the city to spend the day at Robison park and all of the other steam roads and the interurbans brought a great many people also. The business was much heavier than anticipated.

DELAYED BY ENGINE FAILURE.

As the engine which was to take out the excursion train on the C., H. & D. road on its return trip last night was being fired up and made ready, a leak in the boiler was discovered and it became necessary to provide other power for the train. A requisition was made on the Wabash, but it was two hours past the scheduled hour of departure when the train left the city. The excursionists took the delay good-naturedly, however, and made things pleasant and lively at the depot. This was one of the largest excursion parties ever brought into Fort Wayne over the Findlay

WILL GO WEST TO LIVE.

Harold L. Wood, a conductor on the Angola-Lake James electric line, was in the city today calling on old friends and former shop associates. He is making arrangements to leave for the west at the close of the lake season and will remain out there if he finds employment to suit him. Mr. Wood was employed in a clerical capacity at the Wabash shops last winter and spring and has many warm friends there.

WILL MEET NICKEL PLATE.

The Wabash has decided to meet the Nickel Plate in the matter of a series of cheap excursions to Niagara Falls next month. This morning Agent W. H. Shorey received notice that the Wabash would have excursion tickets to the Falls on sale for use August 3, 10, 14, 17, 19 and 26, good returning within twelve days from date of sale.

The party came in over the Nickel Plate at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and their car was transferred to the Pennsylvania.

The Nickel Plate announces a week-end excursion to Cleveland August 21. It is proposed to run a special train, leaving the city at 7 in the morning, and to also make the tickets good on the train which leaves Fort Wayne at 3:10 in the afternoon. Returning the tickets will be good on any train up and including the last train out of Cleveland Monday.

Abery and Stanley and Brook Penquite, of Dayton, Ohio, left today for Tippecanoe Lake, Ind., where they will occupy the Bide 'o Wee cottage for a week.

The Wabash's all rail excursion to Detroit Saturday was successful in a numerical way, there being 177 passengers from this city and enough from other stations to bring the total up to 500. Next Saturday the Wabash employes have their annual excursion to Detroit, which will be rail to Toledo and thence to Detroit by boat. There will probably be over 800 in this party.

Cleveland is to be the headquarters of an organization of railroad men which is expected to extend all over the country. The purpose of the organization is to select and elect men to state legislatures and to congress who will support measures which are of interest to employes of railroads. The Cuyahoga county organization already has 5,000 men pledged to support its men and measures. The cooperation and support of the officials of the roads having important offices in Cleveland, have been secured.

CRAZED BY LIQUOR HE BUTCHERED HIS WIFE

New Bedford, Mass., Man Then Went to Police Station and Shot Himself

New Bedford, Mass., July 26.—In a state bordering on insanity, said to have been brought on by drink and the fact that his wife had refused to live with him, Robert M. Fanning, aged 28 years, came to the police station here from his home in Westport early today and after producing a letter in which he had written of having murdered his wife, shot himself dead. Following directions given in the letter Lieut. Thomas W. Comstock and other officers went to Westport, about seven miles from here, and at a spot indicated, about half a mile from her home, found the body of Mrs. Fanning, who apparently had been killed with a hatchet.

Fanning is said to be the son of Dennis Fanning, a manufacturer of Providence, R. I. He and his wife, with their year old daughter, lived at the home of his father-in-law, Captain George Hall, in Westport.

The letter was a neatly written missive. It said: "My wife's body lies on the west side of Lyon's brook, about fifty feet to the south of the bushes. Please give it your immediate attention and remove same as soon as possible. At my request please bury us both together."

Tender reference was made several times to "my baby" and one line said, "I would like to have my baby join me, but cruel as I am, I have not the heart for such."

As the lieutenant read the letter he asked, "What do you want me to do about it?"

"Just this," was the reply, and Fanning with quick motion, produced a big revolver, placed the muzzle to his mouth and fired. He fell dead instantly.

GOVERNOR PROBING PRIZE FIGHTS IN TERRY HUT

Courts Said to be Giving Protection to the Ring Game.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—On complaint from Terre Haute that the Vigo circuit court was being used to protect the promoters of prize fights which have been conducted at Lake View park just outside the city limits, by the Lake View Athletic club, Governor Marshall today sent Burt New, his legal clerk, to that city to inquire into conditions. L. W. Henley, formerly of Indianapolis, who now has charge of the editorial department of the Terre Haute Star, conferred with the governor today on the situation, following a letter which he had written to the governor after the issuance of an order by Judge Charles M. Fortune, of the circuit court, restraining the city police department from interfering with a boxing match which was pulled off at the club house Friday evening. The sporting editor of the Star, it was represented to the governor, acted as referee in one of the bouts, and returned to the Star editorial rooms after the go with his clothing covered with blood and with other indications that the "boxing match" had been a pretty strenuous affair. It was then that Henley arranged to confer with the governor.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., July 26.—Wheat prices declined to a still lower level on the board of trade today when the July delivery sold at $1.07 and the September at $1.04⅞, losses of ⅞c and ⅞@⅞c respectively, compared with the previous close. Arrivals of wheat here today were nearly 200 cars in excess of what had been estimated and an exceedingly liberal movement was reported at Kansas City. Active support by commission houses caused a sharp rally early in the day, the July advancing from $1.07, the opening price, to $1.09. September, which opened at $1.04⅞ to $1.05¼, sold up to $1.06.

The wheat market was subjected to heavy selling pressure nearly all day and during the last half of the session, prices declining slightly further, July dropping to $1.05⅛ and September to $1.03⅞. Talk of prospective arrivals tomorrow of more than one thousand carloads inspired much of the selling. The close was weak, with July off 1⅜c to $1.05¼. September was down 1c at $1.04⅝@1.04¾.

A severe slump occurred in corn prices at the opening of the market, quotations showing declines of ⅜@½c to 1⅜@1⅝c, compared with Saturday's final figures. A considerable increase in local receipts promoted general selling at the start and for a time demand was poor. Shorts in the July delivery ran up the price of that option from 70½c the opening figure, to 71⅝c early in the day, but all of the advance was not maintained. The September delivery for a time held within the opening range of 66⅜c to 67⅜c.

The corn market slumped still more severely later in the day, owing chiefly to the fresh break in wheat. July dropped to 68⅜c and September to 66⅝c. The close was weak with July down 1⅞c at 70c and September off 1⅜@1½c at 66¾c.

Oats were weak, owing to the heaviness of wheat and corn. There was considerable profit taking in July early in the day. That option opened unchanged at 44¾c and sold off to 44¼c. September opened ⅛@⅜c to ½c lower at 40¼@40⅜c to 40⅝c, declined to 40⅛@40¼c and then rallied to 40½c.

Provisions were dull and easy during early trading. Prices at the opening were a shade to 10c lower.

The Close.

Prices at the close were as follows:

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, July 26.—The opening dealings in stocks were on a small scale and no well defined tendency was perceptible in the price movement. The Rock Island stocks and New York Central advanced substantial fractions, but small gains generally outnumbered the declines. National Railway of Mexico first preferred fell 1¼ points.

Demand for stock proved insufficient to absorb realizing sales, although these were light and prices yielded. The market stiffened later.

The stock market became practically idle at the slight recovery of prices. Bonds were irregular.

Western Union struggled upward a point, but when United States Steel sank to 70, a decline of 1⅛, the tone became heavy. Amalgamated Copper, American Car, Colorado Fuel, Pacific Mail and Frisco second preferred declined 1 point.

The market closed heavy and lifeless. Prices still drooped, but there was very slight activity. The decline in United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper reached 1⅜. Minneapolis & St. Louis fell 1 point.

McKinnie, former Fort Wayne man who was vice president and a director of the Cosmopolitan National bank at Pittsburg, which closed its doors almost a year ago, will lose, it is said, between $250,000 and $300,000 by the crash. He is a son of the late Captain Henry McKinnie and left Fort Wayne early in life. He has been actively interested in a number of prominent eastern hotels.

Flies are sure to come

Window screens that really protect you from the flies and other summer pests are the sort of screens you want. Made to fit your windows snugly, do not warp nor crack, nor wear at the edges of the wire netting—that's the sort of screens we sell at prices of the fall-to-pieces kind. Also screen doors in all styles, fancy and plain. We make a specialty of repairing screen doors and windows, and make odd sizes to order.
